The inner and outer environment need to work with development for successful learning. Find out how to get more capacity by working with the body and brain, instead of against them.

Instructors Kim Lauger & Janet Oliver present practical and inspiring ways that will change the way you think about learning in an entertaining and hands on way.

Janet Oliver MA is a neurodevelopmental specialist and educator from Minnesota with twenty years clinical experience.

Kim Lauger is an Arizona based registered nurse, neurodevelopmental and educational specialist.

Reflexes for Handwriting by Janet Oliver

Fine motor skills, including handwriting, are built on the foundation of early development. Infant reflexes help, or if atypical, hinder this development. Find out how to check and remediate developmental issues in simple, but highly effective ways.

Learning from Dylan by Kim Lauger

Combining insights from nursing, brain-science, deafblindness, cortical visual impairments, and HANDLE®, with a mother¹'s perspective on teaching her son, Learning from Dylan is a comprehensive approach to understanding behavior and supporting connection, communication and learning in students with complex medical and sensory needs.
